SEU is ALL IN for YOU!

Whether it’s learning on the job or in the classroom, education is the foundation of success. It can open the door to career advancement, or even to a new career. At Saint Elizabeth University, we offer master’s and doctoral programs in options that fit your schedule — online, on campus and off-site.

SEU GRADUATE PROGRAMS FEATURE:
• Flexible scheduling
• Online, on campus, and off-site options
• Full and part-time enrollment
• No GRE/GMAT requirement for most programs

DOCTORAL PROGRAMS
The pinnacle of education is the doctoral degree.

At SEU, we offer two doctoral programs: Ed.D. (three tracks) and a Psy.D., all of which build on the foundational strengths and unique mission of the University.

EDUCATION DOCTORATE
The Ed.D. in Educational Leadership at Saint Elizabeth University is designed to prepare globally conscious and morally purposeful servant leaders. Three program tracks are offered: the Pre-K to 12th Grade Track, the Higher Education Track and the Organizational Leadership Track. They are sequenced, 50-credit programs to be completed during a three-year time frame.

Pre-K to 12th Grade Track
Students complete all courses as a cohort that combines theoretical knowledge and practical application in authentic school settings using the student’s professional experience in school leadership. The foundation of the program is aligned with the Professional Standards for Educational Leaders (PSEL).

For more information visit steu.edu/eddprek12.

Higher Education Track
The Ed.D. track for higher education leadership combines theoretical knowledge and practical application in an authentic higher education setting utilizing the candidate’s professional experience in higher education. It is an online, sequenced, 50-credit program to be completed during a three-year time frame.

For more information visit steu.edu/eddhighered.

Educational Organizational Leadership Track
The program is designed to meet the needs of practitioners. Individuals who are currently in, or looking to move into, leadership positions within organizations such as private firms, government organizations and nonprofit organizations are excellent candidates for an Ed.D. in Educational Organizational Leadership.

Graduates will gain the ability to lead organizations, improve adult learning outcomes and utilize research methods to change organizations for the better.

For more information visit steu.edu/eddorg.

PSYCHOLOGY DOCTORATE
The Psy.D. in Counseling Psychology is a four-year, full-time program with courses being offered in the fall, spring and summer. In order to facilitate a more supportive learning environment, the doctoral program utilizes a cohort model. Our program is designed to meet the educational requirements for licensure by the New Jersey State Board of Psychological Examiners and will allow graduates to apply for licensure as practicing psychologists in New Jersey.

“
I chose to do my doctoral work at Saint Elizabeth University because of its outstanding reputation. The Ed.D. program is excellent because of the dedicated and knowledgeable faculty and staff.”

James D.
M.S. MANAGEMENT
Theoretical knowledge and practical application form the backbone of this 30-credit M.S. in Management program. Students can select one of two concentrations: Human Resources Management or Organizational Change. Courses are offered on-site, online and in hybrid formats. Many are offered in a seven-week format to accelerate degree completion. Professional experience may be assessed for credit.
For more information visit steu.edu/msmgmt.

M.S. NURSING
The Master of Science in Nursing (M.S.N.) program was developed in response to the growing need for nurses with advanced degrees who can assume leadership positions in education and practice. The 36-credit program offers tracks in Nursing Education and Nursing Leadership, as well as a bridge to the M.S.N. for RNs with Non-Nursing Bachelor’s degrees. The program is designed to provide the skills, confidence and knowledge necessary for nurses to practice as faculty members in schools of nursing and leaders in health care organizations and communities. Courses are offered in a blended format that combines face-to-face instruction with online, independent and group assignments.
For more information visit steu.edu/msnursing.

M.S. JUSTICE ADMINISTRATION AND PUBLIC SERVICE (ONLINE)
This 30-credit online program focuses on the development of exceptional professionals and ethical leaders in the areas of justice administration, community safety, law enforcement, social justice and public service. Graduates will be prepared to assume managerial and executive positions within various sectors of justice administration and law enforcement, including police departments, courts, corrections, probation, parole, homeland security and the military. This M.A. program has been ranked as a “Best Online Program” by U.S. News and World Report for the last three years.

M.A. JUSTICE ADMINISTRATION AND PUBLIC SERVICE
- A.C.T. 1, A.C.T. 2
SEU believes in a strong liberal arts background for teachers and in a developmental approach to teacher preparation. Accordingly, the University offers an advanced program of teacher preparation, A.C.T. 1, leading to certification as a K-12 Secondary Teacher or K-6 Elementary Teacher for individuals who hold a baccalaureate degree or higher but who have not yet pursued a program in teacher education.
Upon completion of A.C.T. 1, students may elect to continue with studies in Special Education to obtain an M.A. in Education from the University. The University offers a second program, A.C.T. 2, for certified teachers who wish to earn additional endorsement as a Teacher of Students with Disabilities.

M.A. EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP (ONLINE)
The M.A. in Educational Leadership program is a unique, cohort-based program offered at off-site school locations or online and can be completed in two years. The program, which rests on the fundamental philosophy of servant leadership, provides students with the knowledge, skills and experience necessary for successful and impactful work in school leadership positions. Upon successful completion of the program and a passing score on the SLLA Praxis, candidates will be eligible for a standard certificate as a supervisor and a certificate of eligibility as a director, assistant principal or principal.
For more information visit steu.edu/maedlead.

M.A. EDUCATION
The Master’s in Education was the first graduate program offered at SEU in 1993. Through the years, the program has been refined to reflect the changing dynamics of schools and leadership. This sequenced, minimum 38-credit program allows students to focus on one of two areas of study: special education or initial teaching certification for K-6 and K-12. In this program, the teacher is viewed as the central professional who brings needed human/social services to children and families in an integrative manner. Professional educators are prepared to effectuate alliances between school and community settings to meet the comprehensive needs of children and their families.

Advanced Certification* for Teaching

M.S. NUTRITION (ONLINE)
To address worldwide issues of health and wellness, students can enroll in this 30-credit online master’s program. The program emphasizes ways to incorporate new research, evidence-based applications and entrepreneurial skills into the practice of nutrition. Students in the Community Nutrition and Wellness concentration focus on public health education for the community. All graduates can provide better care for communities in planning and implementing community-based educational programs. Graduates often work in private practice, nutrition education, school systems, food and pharmaceutical industries, community organizations, hospitals, public health agencies, supermarkets and fitness facilities. (Note: Completing this program does not make one eligible to apply to a dietetic internship.)
For more information visit steu.edu/msnutrition.

M.S. NUTRITION AND DIETETIC INTERNSHIP
The combined M.S. in Nutrition/Dietetic Internship Program (MS/DI) prepares graduates to become registered dietitians with advanced nutrition knowledge and experience to meet the medical needs of the population, as well as today’s wellness challenges. This program is completed in 38 credits, and accepted students must have participated in the dietetic internship centralized application process (DICAS). Students complete 20 credits of online M.S. in Nutrition coursework and 18 credits of Dietetic Internship (DI) program-specific coursework, which includes a minimum of 1,200 hours of supervised practice. Students who successfully complete the program receive a M.S. in Nutrition and a verification statement of program completion. They are then eligible to take the National Registration Examination for Registered Dietitians/Nutritionists (RD/RDN).
For more information visit steu.edu/di.

M.S. PHYSICIAN ASSISTANT
The MSPA prepares graduates for one of the fastest-growing and in-demand jobs in health care today. The program offers students real-life clinical experiences with state-of-the art classrooms and a 12-bed clinical assessment lab, as well as a Simulation Center with interactive mannequins and task-trainers, six standardized patient evaluation rooms, virtual dissection tables and a video-capture system to provide students with immediate feedback on their patient interaction skills.
For more information visit steu.edu/mspa.

M.A. THEOLOGY
The spiritual, professional and personal interests of students are met in this 36-credit program that advances the mission of the University and provides in-depth knowledge of the core areas of theology. Four concentrations are offered: Theological Studies, Spirituality, Pastoral Care and Catholic Studies. Our dedicated faculty supports students in their ongoing intellectual engagement with theology, exploring the critical questions of today in dialogue with Church tradition, and enables students to become leaders in their chosen ministries. The department recognizes diverse needs and schedules in its ways of teaching.
